

A Raisin in the Sun

Genre: Play

Each member of the Younger family dreams of a better life. When Mama inherits a large sum of money, the family argues over how best to spend it. A clash with discrimination helps the Youngers realize that money will not bring success but believing in themselves will.

Family Bonds

Genre: Poems

Two poets explore the importance of family. In the first poem, a man thinks of his father's life as an example of greatness. In the second, a woman recalls the quilts her mother made and contemplates the history and love reflected in them.
